
Funders' Roundtable

Funders' Roundtable is a group of Tulsa-area funders, and their representatives, who meet monthly to network and learn from one another. Membership is open to those philanthropic entities that provide broad-based community grantmaking.

Members share contribution policies, guidelines and specific goals and interest areas. The group is able to learn more about the nonprofit sector and community needs through speakers, programs and articles. In addition, the group discusses emerging issues and is a source of collaboration in the philanthropic community.

Funders that meet the membership guidelines and are committed to philanthropy in the Tulsa area are welcome to join. To learn more about the membership requirements and process, please reach out to Senior Program Officer Jessica Sisemore at jsisemore@tulsacf.org.

Information for Nonprofit Organizations: Funders' Roundtable meetings are typically programmed with suggestions and requests from current members. If you might be interested in learning how to share information about your organization with Funders' Roundtable, please reach out to jsisemore@tulsacf.org. Please note that this is a forum for information sharing, solicitations are not permissible.
